

About OKA: Company Profile

Founded in 1977, OKA is a training and consulting firm focused on the growth and development of organizations, teams, and individuals. Expert with a variety of psychological instruments and group processes, OKA has earned a reputation for engaging, high impact training events - specializing in leadership and team development. Complementing our training expertise, OKA's consulting services are rooted in proven organization development models and tools – with rigorous attention to actionable outcomes for both immediate and lasting results.

Public Workshops & Qualifying Training – Widely known as the world's leader in Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® (MBTI®) assessment training, OKA also provides qualifying training on the Strength Deployment Inventory® (SDI®), and a variety of other tools and training approaches.

Client-Site Workshops & Training – Blending both training and consulting principles, OKA provides a range of tools-based workshops customized to fit our client's specific needs. Both interactive and experiential, our designs connect new skills and tools to the real challenges facing organizations. It is through this process that true learning occurs, as participants apply theory and insights to their daily lives and work.

Consulting Services – For needs that extend past a single training event, OKA's consulting services focus on action-based recommendations and solutions, drawing from a rich base of organization development resources. Past projects have included strategic planning and workgroup facilitation; client-specific curriculum development and training design; organization assessments; focus group design and facilitation; teambuilding; and leadership coaching.

For public sector clients, OKA holds a General Services Administration (GSA) Federal Supply Services (FSS) Management, Organizational, and Business Improvement Services (MOBIS) Contract, covering the following SIN's: Consulting Services (SIN 874-1), Facilitation Services (SIN 874-2), Training Services (SIN 874-4) and Support Products (SIN 874-5) (GS-10F-0015R).
